BIG BONANZAS.

The Chloride Group in the Cour d'Alene Said to be Increasing in Richness.

A New Discovery Near Hope Rich in Promise, and the Owners Sanguine of Success.

A London Expert to Examine the Empire Mine and Report-Other Interesting Mining News.

P. J. Cunningham, the man who secured the Weber bonanzas for Helena men, arrived from Chloride yesterday. At the now famous Weber work is progressing night and day. The exploring tunnel is in eighty-six feet in ore all the way, and the foot wall hasn't yet been reached. The developments are such, he says, that the mine is looking richer than ever, and is a ed to enter into a contract with Mr. Abel veritable bonanza. Adjoining the Weber group on the west, two mines, the Keep Cool and Hazel Dell, are being developed and are looking very well. A toll road irom the terry landing to the mine is being built, Mr. Cunningham says, also that a corps of surveyors are in the camp staking out a line for a branch railroad which is expected to be constructed during the summer. The heavy influx of tinhorn gamblers and rounders which formed a large part of the hundreds who rushed into Chloride during the first excitement are Chloride during the first excitement are rapidly leaving the place, while men who mean business are getting ready for prospecting. He believes the entire country surrounding lake Pen d'Oreilie abounds in mineral and expects to see some rich developments in the district this year.

P. L. Gregory, proprietor of the hotel at hope, on the Northern Pacific, was in the city a while yesterday, en route to St. Paul, where he will remain until April. He brought in with him some good looking samples of galena ore from a prospect which was discovered last week in the timber four miles northwest of Hope. It was discovered by a man named Curo, while looking for timber. Mining is entirely out of his line, but the appearance of the rock attracted his attention and he spent four days in prospecting, cutting holes in the galena cropping out the whole distance. Mr. Gregory will have the samples assayed at St. Paul. A NEW DISCOVERY.

MADISON COUNTY MINES.

Lafe Scott, an old-timer of Madison county, is in town. Together with W. G. Gaiigher he owns what is known as the Scott & Gaiigher farm. This "farm" is composed of the Governor Tilden, Wooley, Florida, Fraction, Reform and Spring lodes, situated three miles from Argenta, near Spring creek. In the center of these is the Tuscorora mine owned by Butte men, which has turned out a large amount of gold and silver bullion. Mr. Scott is developing the Governor Tilden upon which he has an incilne shaft, also a perpendicular shaft. In all, the workings extend about 200 feet with a five foot ledge of soft and sand carbonates worth on the average $21 in gold, ten ounces silver and 44 per cent. lead. On the Florida, east of the Tuscorora, development consists of a seventy-foot shaft and thirty-five foot drift on a similar ledge as that in the Governor Til-MADISON COUNTY MINES. Tuscorora, development consists of entry-foot shaft and thirty-five foot drift on a similar ledge as that in the Governor Tilden. The object of Mr. Scott's visit here is to negotiate with either the Great Falls or Helena smelting companies to treat his ore, and will take a man from either piace to the mines to examine the ore and rewhich of it will best pay for shipping. He says he has about 1,000 tons on the dump and many thousand more in sight. The Utah & Northern railroad is only fifteen miles from the camp. Mr. Scott says Madison county's mines are attracting a good deal of attention among capitalists and that there is a great deal of lead in the district.

Prof. A. E. Walton, a mining engineer well known in Montana, is in the city. He is the representative of Richardson & Chadbourne, who conduct a leading mining bureau of London. Prof. Walton's visit to Montana this time is ostensibly to examine the Empire mine which was closed down recently, and upon the result of his report depends whether work will of his report depends whether work will be resumed at Empire or not. The ore is of low grade, but the gentleman believes that by sorting the ore it can be made to Prof. Walton has been traveling for the past fifteen years and has visited every portion of the civilized world where mines are operated. During January he was in Africa looking at the Transvaal gold fields which have come into fame in the mining world through the extent and richness of the mines discovered there. In the Johanterest in the Transvaal, Mr. Walton says that twenty mining companies operating as many quartz mills are working. The discovery lies in what was once a river. The ore is a concrete formation and is one vast body extending seven miles. It pitches to an incline all the way, thrown this way by an immense tract of quartzite which lies over it. Along the whole length the ore varies in width from two to eleven feet, and carries from one to three ounces of gold. The Jumper and Robinson, owned by London capitalists, are the biggest mines. The lowest depth attained is 200 feet, but it is thought at 1,000 feet the ore will still be found. A majority of the quartz mills which run in size from twenty to sixty stamps, are of American make, principally from the firm of Frazer & Chalmers.

Another big mining district in this African field is the Witwaterranat, where the great Sheba mine is located. The Sheba is the greatest mine in the Transvaal, having a ledge forty feet wide, whose ore carries three ounces of gold per ton. Its greatest depth is 300 feet. Miners are paid £18 per month. Australians constitute the greater portion of the miners; colonies of them are engaged by contracts extending a year at £16 per month. A great many Americans, he says, are constantly going to this mining country.

Around the little town of Woodville, located about three miles from Butte, mining is attracting a good deal of attention and some extensive development is being done. Woodville is situated on the Continental divide of the Rockies. Tho whole section of mountainous country is imbedded with mineral which at some future time is destined to bring the place into prominence. Water greatly retards developing, poor men not having the means to handle it. Within the last three months, however, some monied men have directed their attention to the district and to-day three steam hoists and pumps are in operation and every foot of depth gives encouragement to the owners. All the ores found carry copper epth gives encouragement to the wners. All the ores found carry copper o some extent, and it is believed that at

James Donahue, the railroad contractor, is developing the White Cloud with satisfactory results, and the McClosky brothers, with a good hoist on the Big Timber, which has an excellent copper vein, fifty feet wide. The same gentleman is interested in the Dubuque mine, which recently showed an 8-foot vein of quartz of a very hard character. Important Announcement to Comrade Who Propose to Attend It.

Comrades—The attention of these head-quarters has been called to the fact that some Grand Army posts, as such, by reso-lution or other official action, have recom-mended persons for appointive offices po-litical in character. Such action is in vio-lation of the spirit and letter of article 11 of our Rules and Regulations, which reads as follows:

"No officer or comrade of the Grand Army of the Republic shall in any manner."

The gentleman then posted three or four pieces of paper on the windows and above the firm's sign, which read "William Oliver, Agent."

"What are you going to do about the creditors?" asked the reporter.

"Oh, I have nothing to do with them."

"But suppose they levy attachments?"

"They can do that if they want to, but I shall give them to understand they are trespassing on my property. My bill of sale is drawn up."

"Is it on record yet?"

A Hard-Working Man Loses His Savings in a Cheap Lodging House.

Yesterday morning at some time after 3 o'clock, A. M. Hagun, a Swede, was robbed of money and checks, while sleeping in the lodging house over Crahan's saloon on Main street, amounting all told to about 8640.

Hagun arrived in the city Sunday from the Rocky Fork railroad camp, where he had been working during the last three months. He "took in" the town during the night and on his rounds, as is the usual custom, indulged in drinking, and about 3 o'clock sought a place to sleep. "But wasn't he promised something for his money and labor?"

"Carter promised him the governorship, and as Louis is ambitious he jumped at the offer. He might have been induced to put in an extra dollar, but no extra pressure was brought to bear. I think he had better come home at once, sit down in his cosy arm chair at the bank, and repeats. Parewell, a long farewell to all my greatness, for he is just as great now as he ever wil be."

"If Hershfield isa't nominated, who will be?"

"B. F. White. I will tell you a little something that may prove interesting, White is a great friend of Congressman Tom Reed, of Maine, and Reed is a great friend of the president. It was keeding the man. So Mac was telegraphed for and off to work?" asked the reporter.
